Enrollment at Ocean Beach Schools, 2766

Elementary School Wants 9 More In Kindergarten

Enrollment at the three public schools of the Ocean Beach community totaled 2766 at the opening of the new school year this week, according to reports from the three principals.

Dana Junior High tops the list with 1114 pupils already enrolled and the total expected to mount to 1200 within another week, according to Principal Clarence A. Swenson. Until the new $280,000 annex is ready around November 1 this school is operating on an unusual double shift basis, with around 800 students in school during the forenoon and the other 350, approximately, attending only in the afternoon. "During the forenoon the school is particularly congested," says Swenson.

Point Loma high school opens the year with an enrollment of 925, reports Principal Lee A. Bloomenshine, with some indications that this figure will jump to approximately 1000 within a month or two. "In talking with the manager of the Frontier Housing Project," says the principal "I am informed that there are practically no vacancies there. High school students from that project are coming to Point Loma High.

At the Ocean Beach Elementary school, the new principal, Miss Vesta Peterson, reports a total of 727 pupils enrolled including the 101 in the kindergarten. Last year's total was 717 on Sept. 29, several weeks after school started.

The heaviest enrollment is in the primary grades, reports Miss Petersen. Speaking of the kindergarten which is especially crowded, Miss Petersen stated, that "we have only one teacher for the 101 pupils when two really are required, and we can have two teachers for them if only nine more kindergarten pupils will enroll. To be eligible for this instruction, the pupils must have been at least four years and a half old on Sept. 1 and five years old by next March 1." Interested parents are asked to take note of this situation. The PTA is cooperating to relieve this crowded condition.

SAN DIEGO MINISTER TO PREACH AT BETHANY LUTHERAN CHURCH HERE

"They do not march alone!" will be the Sunday sermon topic of the Rev. Edgar Schmidt of the Lutheran Service Center, San Diego, who will preach at the 10:45 service Sunday at Bethany Lutheran church. Sunday School will be opened at 9:30 by the superintendent, Mrs. Merle Porter. Walter Timm announces that a careful check will be kept of those children, who due to full enrollment in Bethany Lutheran school, have for the time being been placed on the waiting list. Bethany Lutheran church is located at Sunset Cliffs Blvd., and Cape May Ave. The Rev. Martin Lankow is pastor.

ANTHONY C. DE PIETRO PURCHASES OCEAN BEACH SHOE HOSPITAL SHOP

Anthony C. De Pietro, who has been employed at the Shoe Hospital of Ocean Beach at 4931 Newport Ave. for a little more than a year, has purchased the business and this week took possession. "Tony," as he is more generally known around Newport Ave., announces the change in this week's issue of The News and states that he will continue to specialize in high quality shoe repairing.

NORTH DAKOTA STATE SOCIETY TO PICNIC ON SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 16

The North Dakota State Society will hold a picnic Sunday, Sept. 16, starting at 12 noon, the place to be the Pepper grove opposite the Naval hospital, announces J. Walter H. Fisher, secretary of the group. "Bring your own picnic dinner and dishes—and enough extra for one or more guests from the uniformed services," Fisher advises the society's members.

IN THE SERVICE—

News from our local boys in service as well as letters or excerpts of letters will be gladly published in this newspaper. Please bring them in for many service men receive the Ocean Beach News by mail weekly and are glad to hear of friends in the Armed forces

Pvt. Ralph M. Robins of 4975 Del Monte Ave. has reported to the Army ground and service forces redistribution center at Santa Barbara after service overseas in the European theatre. He was on duty with the Army for six months in Germany before coming home.

— V —

Sgt. Ward H. Gray of the quartermaster corps who has been in the European theatre of the war for two years has been released from the Army and is home once more. His brother, Sgt. Roy A. Gray, who has been attached to the Burns general hospital, also has been discharged and is expected home soon. Roy plans to be employed at tuna fishing. The two young men are the sons of Melvin H. Gray of 4919 Coronado and brothers of Mrs. Harry Hamilton.

Pfc. Edward T. Leech, son of Mrs. E. L. Nicklin of 5060 Saratoga Ave. writes his mother from the Pacific that though he has no official information he does believe that he will be heading home soon. His mother believes that by now he is likely in Japan on duty with the Marine Corps. He has been in the service for about a year and has been overseas since December last. He reports getting his home paper, The Ocean Beach News, regularly every week and naturally gets a thrill out of reading the home news.

Sgt. Francis G. Swan returned Tuesday from Tucson, Ariz., where he had visited his brother Corp. Laird B. Swan for a couple of days. The brothers, who are sons of Editor and Mrs. Frank F. Swan, had not seen each other for nearly two and one half years their last meeting being at the Air Base at Fresno in Feb. 1943. Sgt. Swan is home on a 30-day furlough from his nearly two years of duty with the Air Corps and the Infantry in Europe. His brother is a gunnery instructor on the B-29s at Davis-Monthan field, near Tucson.

Staff Sgt. Charles A. Peterson, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson who only last week moved from 5069 Long Branch Ave. to Los Angeles has been freed from the Japanese prison known as Toyama Camp No. 7, Nagoya district after more than three years a prisoner of the Japs. Peterson enlisted in the coast artillery of the Army about five years ago. He was with the heroic group of Americans at Corregidor and became a prisoner when Coregidor fell to the Japs in May, 1942. He grew up in Ocean Beach and was a graduate of Point Loma high school.

Several ocean trips has been the experience of Pfc. Robin Mansfield, 19, of the U. S. Marine Corps, whose home is listed at 4862 Del Mar Ave. A graduate of Point Loma high school, he is with a Marine detachment aboard the transport USS General R. M. Blatchford in the Orient after previous cruises in the Pacific and two crossings of the Atlantic. His first Pacific trips took him to the Philippines at the time of the American-invasion of the islands. Then after the surrender of the Nazis his ship made two trans-Atlantic voyages to transfor troops from the European theatre, making port at Le Havre, France and Leghorn, Italy. In Italy while on shore leave he had the privilege of seeing the famous leaning tower of Pisa.

Drive For More Band Members On, At Pt. Loma High

Most important event aside from registration of new students at the opening of Point Loma high school this week was the first meeting of the student body commissioners. On Tuesday afternoon this group of elected leaders met in the commission room with their faculty adviser, Mrs. Mary Maull, to discuss pertinent business. Bill Wilson, commissioner of publications, reports that the big football carnival to be staged September 28 in San Diego High stadium was the major piece of business since Point Loma has charge of all arrangements.

Bill Stone, Bob Daley and Lou Stelle Myers were chosen to campaign for more band members so Point Loma's band may have its usual excellent showing.

New commissioners this year include Carlton Bingham, general affairs; Earl Gustafson, finance; Natalie Harpst, cultural affairs; Robert Daly, boys' activities; Lou Stelle Myers, girls' activities; Muriel Mellon, girls' athletics; Bill Stone, interscholastic athletics; Bill Wilson publications.

Next meeting will be a special call meeting, this (Friday) afternoon, immediately at close of school. Student self-government at Point Loma offers an opportunity for preparation for democratic living insofar as students show themselves capable and willing to accept the responsibility Principal L. L. Bloomenshine said, "In our living together at Point Loma high school we try to demonstrate the fair play and intelligent cooperation that we desire as characteristic of a democratic post-war world."

Mrs. O. W. Jordan, New President of S. D. Writers Club

Mrs. O. W. Jordan of Ocean Beach Wednesday held the first meeting of the new club year of the San Diego Writers club, of which she is the newly elected president. The meeting was held at the San Diego Woman's club and had for guest speaker, J. Clifford Safely, managing editor of the San Diego Union, and himself an author of a textbook on journalism. He spoke on "Writing." Forty-five members and guests enjoyed the 12:15 luncheon and program.

New corps of officers working with Mrs. Jordan this year includes the following:

First vice president, Etta Florence Adair; second vice president, Winifred Davidson; recording secretary, Olive Trelease; corresponding secretary, May Chapman Starkey; treasurer, Fannie Luxmore Gatrell; auditor, Dr. George F. McEwan; directors from the floor, Peggy Reid and Grace Culbertson; and club adviser, Ethel Tulloch Banks.

This meeting observed the 30th anniversary of the establishment of the club.

THREE CHILDREN OF DR. AND MRS. WILHOIT IN COLLEGE THIS YEAR

Three of the children of Dr. and Mrs. John W. Wilhoit of Ocean Beach are in college this fall and the fourth, Jack Wilhoit, who is in Europe, is planning to take a three months course at Oxford or a university in Paris.

Miss Patricia Wilhoit and brother, Richard, left Saturday for Lawrence, Kan., to attend the University of Kansas, the former to study in the school of medicine and Richard to enroll as a freshman in the liberal arts. Patricia graduated last spring from U.S.C. and Richard from Brown's Military Academy here. University of Kansas is Mrs. Wilhoit's alma mater.

Miss Marilyn, the other daughter, is at U. S. C. in Los Angeles in her sophomore year.

In a letter to his parents, dated Aug. 21, Jack writes that he "is now at Linz, Austria, where there are more displaced persons than any place in Europe. We are in the middle of this mess waiting for things to be straightened out. I hope to be home for Christmas or early next year."

Pfc. Kenneth E. Watson of 807 Sunset Cliffs Blvd. this week was reported to be at the Camp Washington re-deployment area in France being processed for duty in the Pacific area.

Kiwanis Speaker Expects Payrolls Will Be Doubled

Compared To Those Previous to War In San Diego

San Diego can reasonably look forward to doubling the pre-war annual total payroll of $100 million, Fred Sykes, secretary of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce Postwar Planning committee, told the Ocean Beach Kiwanis at the regular Tuesday evening meeting. This total he estimated would be two thirds of the $300,000,000 annual payroll that prevailed here in the war years.

This city is fortunate in that it does not need to rely on industry for growth and prosperity, he said. The three assets of the Navy, the San Diego county farming resources and the tourist trade, can be depended on to hold up San Diego's wealth and population at least to the peak of the war years here, he indicated.

"Our Chamber of Commerce surveys show that 75 percent of the workers who have come here from other states because of the war industries plan to remain here," he said. "Returning service-men. tourists deciding to stay and others, he figured, will offset those who move away, so the San Diego area should retain its wartime population of around 400,000 including the military personnel as shown by the special U. S. 1944 census," according to Sykes.

The main "fly in the ointment," the speaker stated is the evident desire of the FHA to retain the 16,000 demountable units in the Federal Housing projects here, all of which should be salvaged soon as possible, otherwise San Diego will fail to get the benefit of the thousands that would be given employment for the construction of the 20,000 homes which surveys have shown San Diego needs in the next five years.

He closed with the appeal that Kiwanians and all other loyal San Diegans join the "army of faith plus facts instead of the army of fear."

Henry Holman, program chairman for the evening, introduced the speaker.

MRS. DORA SOUTHWELL HOME FROM EXTENDED TRIP TO SEE RELATIVES

Mrs. Dora Southwell of 4914 Santa Monica Ave. has returned to Ocean Beach from a visit with her son, Lieut. (Jg) William Southwell, at Quansett Point, R. I., and with his wife and their baby boy. Mrs. Southwell also visited her son-in-law and daughter, Lieut. and Mrs. Ralph Damiano at Springfield, Mass., and with the grandmother of her nephew, Ens. Albert Swan, at Old Orchard, Me. Mrs. Mary W. Swan, mother of the ensign, formerly lived in Ocean Beach and Albert grew up here and attended the local schools. He was third officer in command of landing boat 609 at Okinawa in the Pacific and narrowly escaped injury when his boat was attacked by a Jap suicide plane. Ensign Swan is now at Pearl Harbor awaiting further orders. Mrs. Southwell also visited her sister, Mrs. Reta Angus in Boston and Mr. and Mrs. Monte Ford in New York City.

NAVY MEN TAKE OVER RADIO DEPARTMENT AT OCEAN BEACH SERVICE

Dick Hanna of Ocean Beach and Lawrence Sickert of East San Diego have taken over the interest of Leo Popek in the radio department of the Ocean Beach Service at 1874 Bacon St. and the latter has moved to a chicken ranch beyond El Cajon.

Dick, who was a petty officer first class, was released Friday from 3½ years of service with the Navy, most of which was overseas in the Pacific. He was on duty both at Saipan and Iwo Jima as an aviation radioman in the Naval Air Corps. He lives at 4505 Tivoli St., Ocean Beach.

His partner, Sickert, a petty officer second class, expects release soon from the Navy and is a radio technician and has been on duty as a maintenance man at various Naval bases in the states.

Leaders In Grade School Activities For Fall Listed

The upper grade boys and girls at Ocean Beach Elementary school are organized for a year of cooperation work and play. The team captains keep the games at morning recess and noon organized. All of the children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades are on teams. The various teams play a different game each day of the week. Team captains obtain the necessary equipment and are responsible for getting the game started. New team captains are: Ernest Addison, Joe Don Sartain, Teddy Crouch, Paul Nelson, Tommy Howell, Donald Vedder, Frank Vermursch, Wallace Skinner, Charles Holler, Julian Goeb, Jerilyn Reece, Beverly Mason, Viola Berkheimer, Pamela Jackson, Joan Von Gotteberg, Lois Gerraud, Dianne Kennedy, June Reeves, Roberta Mead and Vee Dee Browning.

The Junior Patrol boys are an efficient part of the school organization. These traffic control boys are trained and supervised by Officer Francis Cassin of the San Diego police force and they help school children safely cross the busy streets at morning, noon and afternoon. The new patrol boys and their schedule are:

At 8:30—Sgt. Jack Gardner, Cpt. Paul Nelson, Pvt. Charles Boeh and Pvt. Frank Vermeersch.

At 11:25—Pvt. Dick Beauclair and Pvt. Billy Adams.

At 12—Sgt. Donald Clark, Cpt. Teddy Crouch, Pvt. Jimmy Smith and Pvt. Earl Williams.

At 12:30—Sgt. John McQuilkin, Cpt. Arthur Hayward, Jr. Pvt. Lee Noorda and Pvt. Roy Crews.

At 2— Cpt. Donald Mincey and Pvt. Roy Fowler.

At 2:30—Sgt. Jay Kowal, Cpt. Jack Keck, Pvt. Julian Goeb and Pvt. Daniel Etheridge.

At 3—Sgt. Donald Veder, Cpt. Billy Fry, Pvt. Laurence Rundle and Pvt. Wallace Skinner.

The hosts and hostesses keep the children who eat in the cafeteria and at the lunch tables quiet and help the small children manage their trays. Because of the fine cooperation between the upper grade and lower grade children the cafeteria and lunch tables are good places to enjoy lunch, report the teachers in charge. The new hosts and hostesses are Dyonis Dyer, Lillian Parks, John Berry, Roy Fowler, Peter Abbey, Dale Babarer, Mary Dean Keller, Mary Ward, Wanda Langly, Kathleen Morgan, Wilma Solnline, Betty Williams and Joan White.

The school "Safety" pupils help the small children play safely and direct traffic within the school grounds. The new "Safety" pupils are Gaylord Brehemer, Carol Smith, Janette James, David Burdge, Carol Hart, Shirley Batt, Margie Keck, Dee Vee Browning, Cordelia Wedgewood, Billy Fry, Larry Rundle, Mary Klein, George Detheier, Billy Fields, Leonard Plant, Charles Boeh, Helen Heywood, Suzie Sharon, Beverly Tomlinson, Dick Roshon and Ralph Nisen.

GLENN JONES' HELPER BUYS PLANE AND PLANS AIR TRIPS TO RELATIVES

Glen Martin of Ocean Beach, formerly a lieutenant in the Army Air Corps, who since his release last winter from the Army has been employed assisting Glenn Jones at the latter's Richfield service station at Bacon and Santa Monica, has purchased a two-seater plane and is planning an air trip that will take he and Mrs. Martin to visit her folks in Montana and his grandparents in Nebraska. On their return, Glen plans to become a college student.

His place at the Jones service station has been taken by Eugene Shaw of Brighton and Cable, a former employee of the Lownes store here and of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp.

Art Lovers Enjoy Village School of Art Deck Show

Ocean Beach Talent And Scenes Are Emphasized

Art lovers of Ocean Beach this week are having a wonderful opportunity to enjoy paintings shown by the recently established Village School of Art. The exhibit called the "Deck Show" opened Sunday at 5172 West Point Loma Blvd. in and around a cottage leased by the school in Hotel Ocean Village, and will be open to the public the remainder of this week and also all day Sunday.

Critics who have seen the exhibit are particularly impressed with pictures that have been painted here in a few short weeks under the expert direction of the school's instructors. They also are impressed with the surprising number of local scenes, both shoreline and inland, in Ocean Beach, that lend themselves as subjects for artists. These scenes shown are all within 3½ miles of the school.

Features of the exhibit are the paintings by the four instructors, Mr. and Mrs. Orren R. Louden, Robert R. Stewart and Peggy Maguire. Standout paintings are the beach scenes by Mr. Louden; one of the piling shore area near the Belle Benchley house, by Mrs. Louden; and Sunset Cliffs shoreline scenes and one of a heavy wave scene near Ray's Cafe, by Stewart, a Navy AMM 2/c. Stewart, who is here after three years combat service in the South Pacific, gives promise of becoming a marine view painter of note.

A feature of the instructors' exhibit is a wash day street scene in Dunkelsbuhl, Germany painted by Mr. Louden in 1938, a picture that was on exhibit at the American salon in New York City later in 1938. Louden painted it in Germany on the last of his annual visits in the summer to Europe in the 30s to paint European scenes. "I found Germany getting too hot for Americans in 1938" says Louden, "so I left there that year. Hitler's troops were maneuvering near Dunkelsbuhl while I was there."

Work of Students Shown

The "Deck Show" has numerous paintings by students of the school, most of them Ocean Beach amateurs who are showing real talent. Outstanding are several paintings by Thelma Under-

MRS. LEONARD PARKER, NEW MANAGER AT MODE-O-DAY READY-TO-WEAR

Mrs. Leonard Parker of Ocean Beach is the new manager at the Mode O'Day ready-to-wear shop on Newport Ave. She takes the place of Mrs. Jane Klewer who with her husband, Kenneth Klewer, has moved to a 4000-acre ranch in Borego Valley. Kenneth, who has been employed at Consolidated, has accepted a position as engineer in charge of the machinery at the ranch.

Mrs. Parker, whose husband is in the Navy and is stationed at the Naval Air base here, moved here recently from Gresham, Ore. where she had been employed in a drygoods store.

WEBBER JOINS FORCE AT OCEAN BEACH SERVICE

G. G. Webber, an electrician and instrument technician, this week joined the force at the Lewis Oaks Ocean Beach Service at 1874 Bacon St. A graduate of the Aerial Tech at Burbank, California, Webber has been specializing in aircraft instruments for four years and during the past two years has been employed in the electrical instrument department of Consolidated. He and Mrs. Webber live at 1821 Cable St., Ocean Beach.

Councilman J. Crary Addresses C. of C. Tuesday

Ocean Beach needs to plan for parking and recreation areas for public use on the ocean front in this community, Councilman G. C. "Jerry" Crary told the Chamber of Commerce in the main address before that group at their September meeting, held at the Woman's clubhouse Tuesday evening. He was introduced by Milton Lancaster.

The councilman spoke on "Community Planning for Ocean Beach" and recommended that Ocean Beach civic leaders arrive at a majority opinion of the main community improvements they desire here and then present them to the city planning engineer and the city zoning commission.

He also reported on the status of the city's postwar improvements that affect Ocean Beach. First must come the improved sewer system providing trunk line sewers to the beach areas, he said on which work has been started. This improvement is a "must," he said, and every effort should be put forth to complete it by June of next year. The tremendous population growth here will not permit us to allow this improvement to be sidetracked by any other on the program, he pointed out.

Tells of Fishing Pier

Crary touched on the campaign under way for the city fishing pier at the foot of Del Monte Ave. and said that the emphasis now is being placed on getting matching funds with which to finance the improvement. The city and all civic and other groups interested are agreed that the completion of this pier should be undertaken soon as the funds are available, he said.

Regarding the new community recreation center, for which bids recently were opened by the council, he said that he took the matter up with City Manager Fred Rhodes who has recommended that the city wait 90 days and then ask for bids again in the hope that the bids then will be low enough to justify proceeding with construction.

Joe Lownes, president, was in the chair and Forest Whedon, secretary, who has been ill also was back on the job. Reports of the postwar and the recreation committee were read by the secretary and approved.

Chairman Martin Murphy of the postwar planning committee announced that a meeting of the committee will be held this (Friday) evening at his home, starting at 8 p. m.

OCEAN BEACH BAKERY REOPENS AFTER WEEK OF PAINTING AND CLEANING

The Ocean Beach Bakery at the corner of Newport Ave. and Bacon St. reopened this week after a week's closing to enable Mr. and Mrs. James Marlow to clean, paint and redecorate the bakery. An overhaul was also given the machinery. Mr. Marlow stated this week that he plans to install a new cake machine as soon as same can be had.

Corner Business Lots Change Hands

Among the largest of deals in business property lots in the Ocean Beach Newport Ave., business district was announced this week by Jack Carpenter in the purchase by him and Tony Matovich of the property at the corner of Bacon St. and Niagara Ave. The property has 100 foot frontage on Niagara Ave. and 140 foot depth along Bacon St. Two residences on the site were included in the deal, one of which will be moved off, Carpenter stated this week.

Plan of the two purchasers is to construct a commercial building along the entire Bacon St. side when the necessary priorities and material and labor are available, according to Carpenter.

Purchase was made from Mrs. Belle Peeler of 5043 Newport Ave., Ocean Beach pioneer.

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

CHAPTER XX

When stranger things would happen, we talked about things of the sort which had once been told in story books. All of us agreed that when this war was over, there would be nothing that had ever happened in fiction that wouldn't have actually happened in this battle of the universe. For instance:

Likiang is a city in China far up on the big, northern loop of the Yangtse-Kiang. It is China, yes, but that part of China is as wild as Tibet and Arabia. The people are called "Lolos," and they must be descendants of Genghis Khan. I had flown over the place, for it was just North of the ferry route from Assam to Kunming, and I had seen the flat clearing South of the village that could have been an emergency landing field. I noted that it was close to nine thousand feet above sea level, and therefore not a field to use unless one had to.

Capt. Charlie Sawyer had crash-landed just South of there, closer to Talifu, and had been unable to identify himself. While the wild-looking Lolo tribesmen were getting set to execute him with ancient-looking flint-lock muskets, Sawyer said the holes in the barrels looked twice as big as fifty-calibre bores. Just at the crucial moment, however, when his fate looked darkest, some new arrival in the party saw the identification card that Sawyer had been pointing to. It was inscribed in various languages, and with pictures. The new arrival didn't recognize the Chinese flag, or any of the languages, or the Generalissimo's signature "chop"—but he saw a star. As it happened, it was the star of India over the imprint in Hindustani. Then the tribesman pointed to the same star on the wing of Sawyer's ship—the insignia of the Army Air Force. Sawyer was saved, and later he was feasted on wild buffalo and rice wine.

But why? Here in the wilds of the Lolo country, where very few white men had ever been, the tribesmen were more familiar with the white star of the Air Force than with any written language. We learned the principal reason later.

A report had come in to General Chennault's headquarters that a native village in the Lolo country, between Lake Tali and Likiang, was under siege by the Burmese northern tribesmen who had crossed the Salween, perhaps under the direction of the Japanese. Two of us, Holloway and I, were sent to look the place over in two P-40's. We were told by the General that we could determine whether the town was under siege by noting whether or not the usual pedestrian traffic was passing in and out of the city gate. All the cities are walled, and are obviously very far from roads or from civilization.

We made our observation and returned with the report. The village was besieged, and we had seen the horsemen encamped a half mile around the city wall. We loaded up and went back with six eighteen-kilogram frags on the wing racks and plenty of fifty-calibre ammunition. I also carried a Very pistol and all colors of shells.

As we circled the town, we could see the villagers watching us; then we dove on the besiegers and bombed them from a thousand feet. The lines of prehistoric cavalry broke and retreated towards the Salween and Burma. We machine-gunned them until they spread in panic. Then I used the Very pistol, shooting first green lights, then red. Holloway said it was the best display of fireworks he'd ever seen. We checked up for several days, but the raiders hadn't come back, and normal pedestrian traffic was passing through the city wall. Holloway and I, with two of the General's P-40's, had stopped a war.

The white star of the Air Force had been seen by those villagers, and they had told the surrounding country that we were friends. Perhaps the constant sight of transports from India to China and return had made the big white star a familiar symbol. At any rate, the Lolos who were about to execute Sawyer recognized it, and to them it meant more than written languages and sealed orders. Such is the strangeness of this global war.

More true fiction came out of the Lolo country during the autumn. A Ferry Command pilot, Lieutenant Aronson, "lost an engine"—which means that his engine failed—on his trip from Assam to Kunming. He barely made the big meadow that was South of the town of Likiang, in the hairpin loop of the Yangtse. After several days we went in there to look the improvised landing-field over, in the hope that we could fly another transport to him with a good engine, or carry in the mechanics and the tools with which to repair the bad one.

More romance of the war was in progress. When the transport had come down, the villagers were not hostile but merely indifferent. They were somewhat enlightened, for there was a Catholic priest in the town, but they offered very little help—there was no food to spare, and things were generally unfriendly.

Late the first night, word came to Aronson that a Lolo infant was dying with what the priest diagnosed as double pneumonia. Aronson began to think the situation over, and later in the night he went with the priest to the mud hut of the Lolo mother and received her permission to spread over the child's bed the canvas engine-cover from one of the transport engines. Then, using the bottles of oxygen from the Douglas, he successfully improvised a pretty good emergency oxygen-tent.

The baby lived. We hope the engine-cover and the oxygen saved it, but we don't know. Anyway, we of the Air Force, with Aronson as the messenger of good-will, received the credit.

We agree now that when the war is over, out in the world they won't even know that one had been going on there among the grandchildren of Genghis Khan. But the white star of the Army Air Force will be as well known among the savage tribesmen as the symbols of the moon and the sun.

In every organization there is always one person who holds up the morale, some one who makes the darker moments brighter and who can bring a little sunshine into the tense reality of war. Out in the China theatre, and especially in the 23rd Fighter Group, my most unforgetable character was Lieut. Henry Elias. This pilot was a Southerner, like most of the others in the China skies. When I first reached Hengyang he was acting as assistant operations officer to Ajax Baumler. He had a reply for every person, and a come-back to every joke. He was definitely a morale builder, and you can ask anyone if they're not as valuable at the front as ammunition.

Elias had been on several raids and had shot down two Japanese when I heard the first joke about him. He'd been on an attack to Nanchang, and as the ships turned for home in the fading light of late afternoon, some one in the rear of the formation observed something peculiar. Up ahead there were five

These pilots are tired out by almost constant alert without relief for 21 days.

P-40's with their sleek silhouettes showing wheels up and everything in proper order. But off to the flank, in almost the position of the number-three man in a Vee formation, was one ship with its wheels extended. Some one called on the radio, "Hey, Elias, who's that flying in formation with you, with their wheels down?"

As the words sank into the consciousness of the flight, and of Elias especially, their ominous significance became apparent. Elias jerked his head around and looked at his wing man. Even to an inexperienced eye, the silhouette was unmistakable. It was a Jap Model I-97, one of the old fixed landing-gear types. The entire formation tried at once to get it as they finally realized what it was. But they had the laugh on Elias. Just as he recognized the Jap, the enemy pilot evidently recognized the P-40's in the twilight before darkness—perhaps he saw the leering sharks' mouths. For as Elias shoved the nose of his ship straight down and dove for him, the Jap pulled his ship straight up and climbed for the sky. Later, when our imaginations began to embroider the joke, Elias took the kidding in good part and always had a comeback.

A small two-seater biplane, a Fleet, came to Hengyang from Kweilin one day with a Chinese officer. We looked the little ship over as it came into the field wide open at some seventy-five miles an hour, and I told Elias that I saw his future destiny.

"We now have just the bait we need," I said. "Lieutenant Elias, I want you to borrow that Fleet from the Chinese. I know a trick to make the Japs lose lots of 'face' and airplanes."

Elias had laid down his Operations reports and was listening attentively. "This ought to get you promoted," I went on. "Now you get that plane and service it tonight, then early in the morning you take off for Hankow. Alison, Baumler, and I will be along later and will arrive over the Jap city before you do." Elias was looking at me in wonder. "Then, when you get there, fly over the enemy airport at thirty-five hundred feet—that'll keep you just above their small-calibre fire and they can't shoot accurately very low with the big stuff. Over the field you fly with one wing low, kind of skidding, cutting your switch on and off so the Japs will think you're either wounded or over there with a bad engine."

Elias was trying to figure out whether I was serious or not. Then I added: "We'll be up there in the sun, and as fast as the Zeros come up for you, we'll knock them down. After all, Elias, if they get you, a Fleet isn't worth much."

But by now Lieutenant Elias was walking out and calling over his shoulder: "No sir, Colonel, I just want to be a plain pilot—I don't want to be no ball of fire."

Well, we saw the value of Elias when we lost him, for in this second battle around Hunan he failed to return from the strafing raid of September 2, 1942. We had taken sixteen P-40's back to Hengyang when we had gotten them in shape to fight, and had landed there just about dark to surprise the Japs. That's the night the Fleet landed and the night I had been kidding Henry Elias.

Next morning we got into the air before daylight and went for Lake Puyang Hu, near Nanchang, where the Japs were moving the Chinese rice out by junks and barges—robbing the breadbasket of China in the yearly rape of the rice. Hill took eight of the P-40's and I took the other eight.

Elias was on Tex Hill's wing. We split at Nanchang and my eight went to the South to catch some gunboats that had been reported in the Sintze-Hukow Strait, near Kukiang, coming from the Yangtse to the Lake. I heard Hill call that he had caught the rice ships and was burning them. Later he told me that he found twenty-six of them, junks and steel barges; he sank some and saw others with their sails on fire, floating for shore where the hungry Chinese coolies would salvage the rice.

Through the four passes at the Japs Elias was right on Tex's wing, but on the fourth pullout he dropped behind the formation, perhaps to shoot at something Hill hadn't seen. Maybe he'd seen a Jap fighter and had gone for it; we knew there were eight Zeros supposed to be over Nanchang. Elias didn't return with the flight, and for two days we carried him as "missing."

Then the Chinese net reported that a group of Chinese soldiers had seen a lone American P-40 engaged by four Japanese Zeros. The American had fought them but his ship had been shot down. The American had jumped out in his parachute and four Japanese had strafed him on the way down.

The body had been found, with the identification flag number listed. The pilot's name was Lieutenant Elias. All of us watched for Japs bailing out, so that we could shoot one or two down for Elias, but we didn't get the chance.

We sent Captain Wang down to Kian to get Elias's body. Wang had to travel a hundred and sixty miles by buffalo cart, by alcohol bus, and on foot, but he finally got there. The trip took him twenty days. When the body of our lost pilot finally arrived at the field from which he had last taken off, it was in a Chinese coffin that Wang had gotten at Kian. We placed the flag over the grim

Classes on Home Planning To Open At High School

The first of a series of 10 classes on modern home planning will get underway next week at the Point Loma high school, Tuesday evening, September 18 at 7:30 p. m. The classes are free and will be sponsored by the Home Planners' Institute of San Diego county and presented through the adult education program of the city.

Subjects for the first meeting's discussion will be "Why Plan Now?" and "Choosing a Modern Homesite." Speakers will be selected from among the members of San Diego's planning commission and the San Diego Realty Board.

The 10 series of classes will cover virtually every phase of modern home planning. Two lectures will be presented each evening by experts in their own particular fields of modern home building.

This week, September 10 to 17, was proclaimed "Home Planners' Institute Week" by Mayor Harley Knox in an effort to stimulate a greater public interest in home building and thus provide jobs for thousands of returning war veterans and discharged war industry workers. The institute is backed by local Chambers of Commerce, labor unions, civic organizations and leading business firms vitally interested in a greater postwar future for San Diego.

hill of Ocean Beach. She has on display several beach scenes and an especially attractive painting of the Bait and Tackle shack and surroundings on W. Point Loma Blvd.

Others that intrigue art lovers are: A beach and water scene near the Beacon Cottages by Carolyn C. Campbell; boat house near Glenn's Drive-In and a beach apartment house, both by Capt. Jo G. Martin of the U. S. Army, a former Arco, Idaho lawyer, and a painting of the Door of Hope home on Bolinas St. as well as other beach scenes, by Thelma Brown, Ocean Beach.

Other students exhibiting their work are: Roland T. Stevenson, Eleanor Diaz and Ruth T. Dryden, all of Ocean Beach; Allen C. Campbell and Martha Bohgren of La Jolla, Athene Kelly and Curtis Brown of San Diego, Dorothy Connor of El Centro and Pvt. Clarence McCabe of the Army Signal Corps.

Exhibits by students in the children's classes of the school include the work of Jane Titlow, Sandra Stauffer, Kendrick Kellogg, Donald Bull and Joan Ross. These pupils range in age from 8 to 13.

AZURE VISTA

Miss Margaret Taylor who has acted as assistant recreational director in Azure Vista this summer will return to State College Sept. 17. Her home is 2732 Azala Dr., Loma Portal.

The members of the "20 Juniors" are to attend Loma theatre tomorrow afternoon (Sept. 15) and after the show they will have "treats." The money for the outing was earned by the girls themselves delivering papers to homes in Azure Vista.

The play "Hansel and Gretel" presented by children of elementary age, and directed by Miss Meredith Morrell will be given in the Community building Friday evening, Sept. 21 at 7:45. The cast includes Patty Jones as Gretel, Kenneth Meader as Hansel, Kathleen Lorenz as the mother, Ronald Hunt as the father and Helen Robinson as the witch.

Mrs. M. Ruelas and baby arrived last Monday from El Centro for a two weeks visit with her sister, Mrs. G. M. Dyson, 4419 Hill St.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guyer and their two children of 4427 Brindisi St. left Tuesday for a visit of about two months in New York state.

Cpl. Robert Lawhead of Keesler Field, Miss. is at home for a visit of 10 days with his parents and family at 4450 Monaco St. He is to report Sept. 20 at Scott Field, Ill. for a course in cryptography.

Don Whitten, RM 1/c, who is to be stationed in San Diego as a radio instructor at the Naval base, spent Monday and Tuesday with Donald Lawhead. The boys were old school friends in Billings, Mont.

Miss Eleanor Cristopher of Harbison Canyon, San Diego was a guest of Mrs. Lillian McHugh, 4437 Marseilles St. from Tuesday until Thursday of last week. Later Mrs. Lea Mathey, also of San Diego, wisited with Mrs. McHugh over the week-end.

Lieut. and Mrs. Fleet Van Riper of San Fernando spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, 4435 Marseilles St. They left Tuesday for Midland, Texas, where Lieut. Van Riper reports for duty.

Jackie Cole of 4411 Algerciras St. celebrated his fourth birthday Tuesday afternoon. Guests present were Barbara Wilson, Jerry Hooper, Roger Swift, Sue, Kay and Max Fraughton, Carol Ann Wert and Diana Cole. The younger children were accompanied by their mothers.

Kindergarten of Azure Vista is being divided into morning and afternoon sessions because of the large enrollment.

Six Boy Scouts from Azure Vista Troop No. 9 attended Camp Hual-Cu-Cuish the week of Aug. 21-28. They were: David Smith, Tommy Collins, Bill Kuhl, Jerry Evans, Milton Kuhl and Hershel Arney.

Margaret Lawhead, 4450 Monaco St. had as guest over the week-end, her friend Mary Elizabeth Myers of El Cajon.

There is a new member in the family of Mrs. Galvin Thompson, 4465 Hill St. a boy born at the Naval hispitol on Sept. 6. Mr. Thompson is "somewhere" in the South Pacific.

Pvt. Clifford Olson spent the Labor day week-end visiting at the home of G. W. Geert and family, 4465 Hill St.

Joseph Debate Jr. and family of 4431 Hill St. left Sept. 2 on a month's vacation, first to Chicago and then to Wisconsin.

Permanent Jobs to be had here, Declares Crary

"It does seem strange that over 7,000 people are drawing unemployment insurance in San Diego when there is such a shortage of help in the service and distribution business," Councilman G. C. "Jerry" Crary writes The News in a communication dated Sept. 8, last week.

The councilman is in the laundry and dry cleaning business in La Jolla and his own business, he says is crying for help and has been for many weeks.

Others in the service and distribution business in San Diego are having the same trouble to get the necessary help, he indicates. To anyone interested Councilman Crary no doubt can provide the information leading to employment. He can be reached at his La Jolla address at 712 Pearl St. His telephone number there is Glencove 5-2161.

Vestees and Dickeys Look Like Blouses

These Artful Garments Are Gay Deceivers.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

"Things are not always what they seem." You're reminded of this trite saying when you see the new vestees, gilets, dickeys or call them what you will that are being turned out so designfully this season to wear with the jacket suit to look like a blouse front.

Next time you covet a blouse such as you thought you saw worn with a smart suit, go to the neckwear department and ask to see the latest in dressy vestees. Like as not you'll find a vestee that counterparts the blouse (to all appearance) you had so admired. The dressy-type vestee that is fashioned to simulate a blouse front when worn with a suit is a new fashion theme of interest.

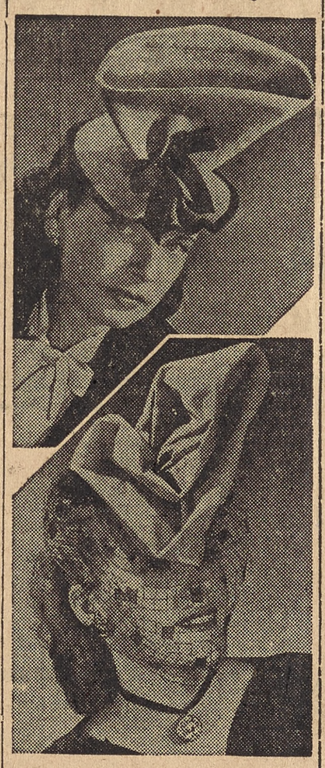
One of the most baffling deceivers that you will come across is the surplice-front vestee. Made up of colorful crepe, taffeta, jersey or satin, this vestee gives the impression of a costume blouse worn with the suit. There is a narrow halter strap that fits around the back which widens at the front, crossing over at the waistline in regulation surplice manner.

One of the "finds" in the new surplice vestees is the model done in color contrast. One side may be in fuchsia, the other in a radiant purple or perhaps soft blue tone. Crossed in a surplice way this vestee achieves a smart bi-color scheme.

You will treasure a gay print crepe blouse that fastens at the neckline with a generous bow-tie of the same print, richly bespangled in multi-colored sequins. You'll find it simply gorgeous to wear with your after-five restaurant suit of black satin or black velvet or with the new suit of black faille.

Some exquisite lingerie vestees are shown in neckwear displays. The newest is a peplum type that calls for attention because it is styled to stress the smart peplum vogue. The sheerest of snowy batiste combines with finest of lace to achieve this outstanding vestee, which is so utterly feminine and dainty. These peplum blouses are beguiling with pastel wool suits.

Chic Millinery



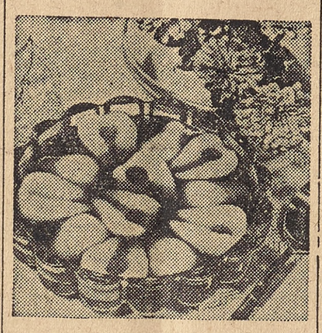
The new draped hats go towering higher and higher. Increasing enthusiasm is being shown for the newer modes styled after the manner of the stunning headgear pictured above. The hat at the top is of gray felt with a crown wider at the top and creased horizontally. Another winter creation that shows striking originality is the party hat shown below. It is done in a Lyon's type velvet in a new color called bleeding heart pink. The velvet chou dips down over one eye and flares high on top. A huge pin of jet is used at the side-back and a square-meshed veil adds a prettily feminine touch.

Fads and Fancies

Among the latest pretty frou-frou accessories is a set that consists of a big soft bow to pose at the throat or a deep-cut square neck and a sash belt with long streamers made of a handsome faille silk in bright red and many other delectable colors. These are beautifully embroidered with rhinestones and pearls. Any simple crepe frock would be made to look important with this jewel-starred scarf and sash.

Ask to see the charming snood-like hats made of soft white angora wool knit. They are picturesquely draped in oriental fashion, held firm on the head with a bicycle clip. Richly embroidered in gold beads and spangles, they are adorable to wear with winter wraps.

Sugar Substitutes Come Into Limelight After the Holidays



Pears and other fruit may be stewed or baked with very little additional sugar because the fruit is so sweet in itself. Fruit desserts are kind to low-on-sugar budgets.

Sugar-Shy Sweets

Have the holidays exhausted your supply of sugar and sweets? Today's collection of recipes is especially planned for the low sugar budget, for strange though it may seem, there are many foods which can be fixed with a minimum of sugar.

Try packaged mixes, dried fruits, candied fruits, and the sugar substitutes if the sugar canister is getting empty. There are many packaged fillings which will relieve sugar from being used in pie and cake fillings, and these come in a variety of flavors.

Substitute as many of the fresh fruits for dessert as possible, and if they are baked, sweeten with maple or corn syrup. If your favorite cookie recipes call for one cup of sugar, use ¾ of a cup. They will be just as good, if a little less sweet.

Marble Molasses Cake.
½ cup butter or substitute
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs beaten
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅔ cup milk
2 teaspoons allspice
3 tablespoons molasses

Have all ingredients at room temperature. Measure out flour, sugar, salt and butter in bowl. Beat for 2 minutes. Add eggs and milk and beat for another two minutes. Take out one-third of batter and mix with molasses and allspice. Drop by spoonfuls into greased loaf pan, alternating light and dark mixture. Bake in a moderate oven for 1 hour. Serve plain or frosted.

Angel Cake.
1½ cups light corn syrup
5 egg whites
5 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup sifted flour
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt

Boil syrup until it forms a soft ball when tested in cold water. Beat egg whites stiff but not dry, pour syrup over them slowly, continue beating. Add the lemon juice and vanilla. Beat this mixture until it holds its shape. Fold in egg yolks, beaten until thick and lemon-colored. Fold in sifted dry ingredients. Bake in large ungreased tube pan in a slow oven (300 deg.) until well browned and done, about 60 minutes. Invert until cake loosens. Ice with following:

Lynn Says:

Sugar-Savers: When stewing fresh or dried fruits or making fruit sauces, add sugar or syrup just a few minutes before cooking is finished. Don't forget to add a pinch of salt to the fruit while it cooks. Both these little tricks will help make the fruit seem sweeter without using up a great deal of sugar.

Dried fruits are rich in sweetening and may be made into fruit whips without any sugar. Simply stew the fruit, cook and put through a sieve. Beat two egg whites until stiff and use ⅓ cup of dark corn syrup beaten into them. The amount of fruit puree required for this amount of egg white-syrup mixture is ¾ cup.

Since powdered sugar is more readily obtained than the granulated type, use it in icings. Powdered sugar is especially good when mixed in the proportion of one cup to a three-ounce package of cream cheese and flavored with orange juice.

Sgt. Fidel J. Gonzales Jr., 28, USMC., is back in San Diego after a short trip to the old home at Dallas, Texas, on a 30-day furlough. He just returned from 33 months overseas service with the Marine Corps in the Southwest Pacific. He experienced combat duty at Tinian, Saipan, Okinawa and also was at New Zealand and other places during his overseas service. He is now visiting at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Price, 1775 Ebers St. At the expiration of his furlough, within a few days, he will report at the local Marine base for reassignment. Wearing a happy smile and 3 battle stars, the sergeant says the best thing about wars is being able to get home to tell of his experiences to little son Peter, who was only one month old when his father was sent overseas. Although born in Dallas, Texas, Sgt Gonzales spent many years of his early high school days in Santander, Spain, at the home of his grandparents, and has traveled extensively in Europe. Before entering the service, Sgt. Gonzalez was associate editor of a Spanish-language newspaper, La Prensa de Hoy, and active in Spanish-American commercial and cultural activities in San Diego and southern California. He was married to the former Miss Blanche Price, Point Loma High graduate at a quaint ceremony in Old Mission San Diego de Alcala, attended by many San Diegans, in Nov. 1941. Like many returning veterans, Sgt. Gonzalez, who claims 124 points for an early discharge, is looking over the field to see where he can make the wheels turn 'round in civilian life. With aid extended by the U .S. government he hopes to continue his college work to be of further service in the diplomatic or consular work in Latin-America or in aviation employment where a knowledge of both languages is required.

Staff Sgt. Jack E. Conger of Ocean Beach, overseas veteran, is on duty as a gunnery instructor at the Las Vegas, Nev. Army air base. He is a son of Mrs. Peggy S. Williams of 4455 Montalvo St. and is expecting soon his release from the Army. Conger, a right waist gunner on a B-17 while overseas in the European theatre of war, was decorated with an Air Medal with five Oak Leaf clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Presidential Unit citation. He is a former student of Point Loma high school.

IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC—A. S. DeFuentes, Jr., radarman, third class, 4553 Saratoga Ave., Ocean Beach, serving on the USS Rutilicus, a Navy cargo carrier, has a personal interest in island hopping—his ship has been linking these far flung bases in a supply lifeline since the westward offensive began in the Gilberts. Operating through rain, air raids, and darkness, "Rudy's" crew have brought supplies — everything from battle equipment to groceries—to augment invasion drives in the Marshalls, Marianas and the Philippines. Tinian had just been secured when his ship arrived with Seabees and construction material to build the first of the famous B-29 bases. In the Philippines, "Rudy" was remodelled to serve as a fleet issue ship for forward area supply, and serviced initial assault craft with medical supplies.

Our sincere thanks to all of you who helped

When Japan bombed Pearl Harbor, Southern Pacific became perhaps the most strategic railroad in the United States. Serving the West Coast ports of embarkation from San Diego to Portland, and more military and naval establishments than any other railroad, we were called upon to handle an enormous load.
We were able to handle this load successfully because of the great work of railroad men and women up and down the line, and with the help and cooperation of thousands of people not actually working for the railroad.
Now the war is over. The job is done. But we of Southern Pacific will never forget the way people stood by us when the task sometimes seemed bigger than our railroad.
We send our sincere thanks—— to the Army, Navy and Government authorities for their sympathetic understanding of our problems.
— to the shippers who cheerfully put up with delays so that more vital war freight could go through on time, and who cooperated in many ways to conserve equipment.
— to our passengers, for their good-natured acceptance of crowded trains and other wartime discomforts.
— to the thousands of people who stayed off the trains to make room for service men and other essential travelers.
— to the press and radio which understood our operating difficulties and kept the public informed.
We do not know how quickly Southern Pacific can convert from war to peace. Soon transports will be landing thousands of war-weary men at West Coast ports, and many more must be brought back from Europe. These men will want to get home as quickly as possible. We intend to do our best to carry them in the comfort to which they are entitled. This job comes first, of course.
Meanwhile, we are planning luxurious new streamlined trains, new comforts and refinements in passenger service, and improvements in travel service. We intend to go forward aggressively with the West, earning right to serve you solely on merit and performance.
A. T. MERCIER, President
S·P The friendly Southern Pacific

VOLUNTEERING WORTH TRYING

Congress is going to have a hot potato to handle in the matter of providing personnel for the armies of occupation in Europe and Japan. With both the military heads and President Truman back of the system of drafting men for the armies, the pressure on congress will have a lot of strength behind it.

Somehow, though, we have a strong hunch that the majority of the people in this country are opposed to the draft in peace time. Ours being a country subscribed to the doctrine of majority rule by the people, the military as well as the president and the congress should sit up and take notice of what the majority of the people want.

In considering the matter we would do well to hark back to the decades not so long ago when tens of thousands of emigrants came to our shores from Europe, particularly from Germany, to escape compulsory military service. We do not want to discourage, by compulsory military service, substantial, worthy citizens from making their homes in this country.

At least, the volunteer system is worth a good trial for the coming year. Likely the best solution of the problem is to provide a salary high enough and other inducements attractive enough to convince many of our American men that they would make a mistake not to enlist and " see the world" besides.

Making the peace-time soldier worthy of his hire also would induce many young men now in the Army to make the service a career.

An inducement-packed volunteer system is most assuredly worth trying for at least the coming year. In the meantime the wishes of the vast majority of the veterans of World War II can be obtained. They are entitled to the chance to express their opinions.

As for the extra expense, how much better it would be for Uncle Sam to provide employment in the man-sized jobs in the armies of occupation than to take care of the expected man-power surplus by farming out he-men in worthless trumped-up jobs of the kind that made the recent WPA system famous, or was it infamous?

SCHOOLS AGAIN IN PEACETIME

Nearly 3000 Ocean Beach children are again in school. On Monday, the opening day, they greeted for the first time in the new school year a total of 110 teachers in the three public schools of this community. The thrill that always comes with the reopening of school for a new year adds new zest to life here in a city like San Diego as well as in the smaller cities, and affects to a degree most of the adults as well as the students. As a matter of fact, when the writer noted Monday the many parents who were on their way to the Ocean Beach grade school, the thought came that likely it is more true in the city than it is in the rural disricts that the parents are taking an active part in the opening of a new school year.

For the record it should be noted that this is the first fall since 1941 that our public schools have reopened in peacetime. For almost four long years, the public education of our youth has been carried on under the handicaps of wartime conditions. Greatly increased enrollments largely because of influx of war industry workers as well as shortage of teachers have made the administration of the local schools unusually difficult. To the credit of principals of the Ocean Beach schools be it said that they have done their work remarkably well.

The Ocean Beach schools have been fortunate in the caliber of their school administrators as well as their teachers. One of them, Mrs. Martha McIntosh, has been so outstanding in her work that she has been promoted this year to a considerably higher and more important city-wide position. Her place at the elementary school here is being taken this new year by Miss Vesta Petersen, who comes to Ocean Beach from a three-year period of outstanding work as principal of the La Jolla school.

Ocean Beach community is fortunate to have Principal Lee L. Bloomenshine at the helm of Point Loma high school, and Principal Clarence R. Swenson at the head of Richard Dana junior high school, both of whom have made excellent records in their administration of these schools.

Men 17 to 30 Can Now Enlist In U.S. Navy Vountarily

Chief Specialist Del Dickson, USNR, has reported at the U. S. Navy Recruiting station, Postoffice building, San Diego, for duty as recruiter in charge, Comdr. W. E. Kimbrough, officer in charge of the Southern California Recruiting district, announced today. He succeeds Chief Specialist Patrick Thomas Dooley, USNR, who is being discharged.

Chief Dickson, whose home is in National City, enlisted in the Navy in 1942 and was in charge of the recruiting station in Santa Ana prior to his transfer to San Diego.

In assuming his new duties, Chief Dickson disclosed that since restrictions for voluntary enlistment of men between the ages of 18 and 38 have been lifted, many applications are being received and are now being processed.

Under new regulations men 17 to 30 may enlist voluntarily in the regular Navy and men 17 to 50 in the Naval Reserve without going through Selective Service procedure, Chief Dickson said.

Regular Navy enlistment for 17-year-old boys will be until they have reached their 21st birthday. For men 18 to 30 years of age, the enlistment period is for four years.

THE PARTY LINE

By Evelyn Maconnell Phone B-8560

Mrs. Paul Campbell of 4976 Long Branch Ave., accompanied by Mrs. Jackie Aleckner and her two children Joe Warren and Sheila, arrived home Tuesday from a two weeks visit in the south. The ladies drove the entire distance without a bit of motor or tire trouble and were thrilled with such a pleasant trip. In Ferriday, La. they visited Mrs. Campbell's two sisters and in Natchez, Miss. they visited relatives of Mr. Campbell's. At New Orleans they enjoyed a river excursion. The trip was occasioned by the necessity of returning Mrs. Campbell's nephew, Donald Hammett, to his home after ne had spent several weeks here. Mrs. Venice Campbell of Natchez, mother of Mr. Campbell, made the return trip here with them for a visit here.

Miss Grace Jacks, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. James Jacks of 4683 Pescadero Ave. recited her wedding vows Saturday evening at 8 o'clock with Merton Everett Ahlquist of Worchester, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ahlquist. The double ring ceremony was read in the Baptist church by Rev. P. O. Jenson. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore the traditional long white tulle wedding dress with finger-tip veil and carried a fan-shaped bouquet composed of rosebuds and vari-colored summer flowers. Her sister, Mrs. Edwin Hansen, dressed in a long, pale blue tulle dress, assisted her as matron of honor. Two bridesmaids were Mrs. Walter Helmuth, dressed in pink and Mrs. John Zotalis in blue. The groom's best man was Lt. Edwin Hansen, his brother-in-law. Mrs. Ava Grimes played the wedding march and before the ceremony Miss Lenora Lepine sang "Because." A reception was held at the church with the following out-of-town guests among those present: Lieut. and Mrs. William Adams of San Francisco, Lieut. and Mrs. Edwin Hansen of San Pedro and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davis of San Diego. The ladies are sisters of the bride. The couple spent their honeymoon at the Hotel Del Mar and returned here to make their home at 4625 Pescadero Ave. She wore a grey wool gaberdine suit for her going-away ensemble. Mrs. Ahlquist has lived in Ocean Beach throughout her girlhood and was a graduate of Point Loma high school. The groom is a SK 1c in the Navy and saw overseas duty for two years.

The C. H. M. class of the Baptist church met Friday evening in the church parlor. Following a business session games and refreshments were enjoyed, with Mrs. Pearl Horn and Mrs. Mary Campbell acting as hostesses.

Jack Schachtebeck of Sacramento is spending a month of his vacation jointly with his two grandmothers, Mrs. C. Schachtebeck, 4764 W. Pt. Loma Blvd., and Mrs. Ethel Buzard, 4603 Lotus St.

The Thimble club of the Ann Cordingly Camp of the Royal Neighbors of America will meet Friday at noon Sept. 21 for their usual pot-luck luncheon in the Woman's club house. The ladies will continue their work for the children's home collecting clothing and making scrap books for the children of Vauclain Home. "Members are asked to bring a dish and a friend and let's keep up the good cause," say the club officers.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Levy of Salt Lake City, Utah have been the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Buzard, 4603 Lotus St. While here they visited many of their old friends. Mr. and Mrs. Levy lived for several years in their home adjoining the old Alligator Rock Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Muchmore and two children Donna Lee and Jean will move Saturday to 4919 Narragansett Ave. They recently sold their home at 4962 Saratoga Ave. to Mr. and Mrs. William King of Huntington Park. Mr. King is a retired Pacific Electric Railway employee.

Little Miss Carol Bruce celebrated her seventh birthday on Wednesday afternoon from 4:30 to 6:30 with several of her playmates enjoying the occasion. The party was held in the home of her mother, Mrs. Meta Bruce, 3804 Bernice Drive.

Members of the Episcopal church will hold a party Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 p. m. for children and their parents of the church. The affair is especially for children of the primary school including the third grade. Any other children of Ocean Beach who are not attending a Sunday School are invited to the party and to join the Sunday School that is held each Sunday morning at 10 a. m. while the children's parents are attending church services.

The Point Loma chapter 490 O. E. S. will meet in the Masonic Hall on Newport Ave. on Monday evening Sept. 17 at 8 p. m. Agnes Driskill, worthy matron and Walter Kidwell, worthy patron, will preside for balloting on petition of membership and initiation. This is guest officers night, with Marie Copeland as chairman for the after chapter party. She will be assisted by Lucille Shroyer and Hazel Saan. A reception will be held for Isabella Harrison Hilditch, associate grand matron of the grand chapter of California on Saturday, Sept. 15 at 8 p. m. in the Masonic Hall at 3rd and Cedar, San Diego. All members and visiting Eastern Stars are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Guess of Maywood, Calif., Mrs. Roy Duran and daughter Mrs. Joseph Hart of Portland, Me. and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McHenry of Ocean Beach were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Goodwin, 4720 Point Loma Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Guess are the parents of Mrs. Goodwin and Mrs. McHenry and Mrs. Duran are her aunts. The two ladies from Maine are awaiting the arrival of their husbands from the South Pacific.

Donald Hegerle, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Hegerle, 4519 Bermuda Ave., arrived home Sunday just in time to start school the following morning. Donald spent the entire summer with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Herron in Gettysberg, S. D. on their large grain ranch. He enjoyed assisting with the harvesting of grain and hay and for relaxation went fishing and hunting and enjoyed the picnics that are famous in that locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lloyd, 2071 Froude St. received a letter Tuesday from their son Everett S. who is a second Lieut. in the Merchant Marine, stating that he is leaving soon for Venezuela, South America. They had expected he would soon be returning home as the ship had been hit during the war by a suicide plane. But the ship has now been repaired and will put out to sea again. Everett, a graduate of Point Loma High, has been all over the world since joining the Maritime service more than four years ago.

The Sacred Heart Altar Society of Ocean Beach will hold a card party Monday evening, September 17 in the Parish hall at 8 p. m., at which prizes will be given for bridge, five hundred, pinochle, Chinese checkers and whist. There also will be three door prizes.

Mrs. B. Palmatier is chairman and assisting her will be Mmes. A. Smith, E. Whaling, T. Clarkin, W. Collins, D. Jones, W. Madigan, P. Daley, L. Dolan, B. Long and Miss C. Wylie.

Ocean Beach Camp & Hospital

By ONA E. PITCOCK
Phone B-5639

Red Cross Camp and Hospital thanks the many workers who are making Christmas tree ornaments. We are very proud of them so proud that next Sunday, Sept. 16, we expect there will be a picture of some of them in the morning paper.

Both men and women are working on the decorations and doing a wonderful job. We need more help, however, as we have so many men overseas as well as more in our hospitals. Let's show all of them a nice Christmas.

Miss Nye tells me they badly need playing cards and games. The cards and games are used about 18 hours a day so you see they wear out. Besides there are so many more using them. Please donate cards or games that men like to play.

We need more cake bakers here at the center. We furnish the sugar free and have the grease at 20 cents per pound. Besides we have cocoanut, chocoate and tid bits. Our boys have done much for us. It is our place to show them that we appreciate it. The cookie jar is an American custom as is the birthday cake so please take a little time and bake a cake or some cookies.

Another thing that is our duty is to take advantage of our right to vote. Read your papers, magazines and listen to your radio. Decide who is best fitted for our government positions and vote for that person. We must never have another war.

Our pick-up day is Wednesday so if you have anything to send in to Red Cross please phone before Wednesday (B-5639) and Mrs.Gahlbeck will pick it up.

Kiwani-Annes To Hear Mrs. Hansen Of Children's Home

Kiwani-Annes of Ocean Beach will hold their September meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Masters, 1735 Froude St. on Tuesday evening, Sept. 18, a 6:30 dinner and program being on the agenda.

Mrs. Hansen, superintendent of the Children's Convalescent home, will be the guest speaker. In keeping with the program the members are asked to each bring wash cloths and combs for the children to this meeting of next Tuesday, such action having been authorized by vote of the members at the August meeting.

The officers announce to the members that any member not able to attend is asked to phone Bayview 5703 or Bayview 5943 in reasonable time previous to the meeting.

Literature Group Hear Talk by Miss Audrey Peterson

First meeting of the new club year for the Literature group of the Woman's club, held Monday evening at the clubhouse, featured an inspiring talk by Miss Aurey Peterson, reading consultant of the San Diego city schools, on the subject of "Reading as a Part of Everyday Living."

Mrs. Paul Farrar, the group chairman, was in charge of the meeting and introduced the speaker. Mrs. R. J. Long, the group librarian, discussed the plans of a circulating library for this new club year.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening, with Mrs. Alfred Bedworth and Mrs. S. M. Kyde officiating as hostesses. Mrs. D. R. Wallace and Mrs. B. H. Nielsen poured at an attractively appointed tea table.

J. MILTENBERGERS HOME FROM EXTENDED 10-WEEKS AUTO TRIP TO OREGON

Mr. and Mrs. James Miltenberger returned Sunday to their home at 5139 Long Branch Ave. after a 10 weeks holiday spent with relatives and friends in and around Portland, Ore. On the return trip they visited their old homestead at La Pine where they were guests of Mr. Miltenberger's nephew, Howard Miltenberger, and family who are operating a 2200-acre stock ranch. Here they had a fine feed of venison as Howard is making room in his ice-locker for a new supply when the deer season opens soon. From La Pine they crossed the Cascade range via Odell lake to Eugene and Springfield where they visited other relatives.

At Grant's Pass, Ore. they were guests of former Ocean Beach friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fredrick. The Fredricks took them out about 10 miles on the old highway at the foot of Mt. Sexton where they viewed the fire charred remains of what was to have been the future home of their son, Harold, his wife Mona and daughter, Carolann, recent Ocean Beach residents. While their loss is great with only a small amount of insurance, they are not discouraged and already have lumber ordered for a new home to be built across the highway from the one destroyed by fire. Mrs. Miltenberger availed herself of the various fruits that abound everywhere they visited and had the car well laden with canned fruits and vegetables enroute home.

MRS. MORRIS ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF HER NIECE

Mrs. Alice Morris entertained for her niece, Nancy Heavin, Friday afternoon, the occasion being Nancy's seventh birthday. Those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Morris and sharing with Nancy the dainty sandwiches, cake and ice cream at Presidio Park were: Sue Heavin, Darryl McPheeters, Patty Ann Lacy, Donna Beth and Martha Ruth Lankow, Geraldine and Lois Riese, Stephanie Hancock, Mrs. Ruth Heavin, Mrs. Martha McAlpine, Mrs. M. Lankow, Mrs. W. H. Riese and Mrs. William Morris. An afternoon of games, contests and romping was thoroughly enjoyed by the nine little celebrants.

Kiwanis Speaker Expects Payrolls Will Be Doubled

Last week's regular Kiwanis meeting gave way to a divisional meeting of the Eleventh Division of the California-Nevada district, held Friday evening at the Thursday club clubhouse on Santa Barbara Ave., at which the Ocean Beach club was host.

Following a turkey dinner, the feature of the evening was an address by Kiwanis Past Governor Wm. C. Schaper of Highland Park on the "U. S. Constitution." His talk was one of the best of its kind ever delivered in Ocean Beach.

"Throw off the cloak of indifference to our government and our constitution," he urged. "The constitution is as great as we make it. If it is weakening at all it's because we haven't used it," he said. He decried the practice that has grown up in this country of "not sending our best men to Congress."

Jerry Sullivan, president of the local club, was master of ceremonies, and during the dinner a hour program of music was featured by Alton Lee, "The Lonesome Cowboy," and his guitar.

President Sullivan turned the introduction of the speaker and the honored guests over to Von N. Marshall of La Mesa, lieutenant governor. Myron Insko of Ocean Beach was presented with a pin for 15 years perfect attendance.

The evening closed with two hours of dancing. Ten of the 12 clubs of the district sent representatives and the women as well as the men were included in the affair.

At a divisional business meeting preceding the dinner, Lloyd Adams of the Brawley club was nominated for next year's lieutenant governor. The nomination being practically tantamount to election. Adams is expected to be elected at the next California-Nevada district meeting.

Methodist Women To Have Prisoner Of Japs, Speaker

Personal experience of his imprisonment under the Japanese at Cabanatuan prison camp in the Philippines will be told by Sgt. Maj. John Kelley, USMC, as a highlight of the Women's Society of Christian Service program, Thursday, September 20, announces Mrs. Loftin Stewart, president. All members of the society, their friends and any others interested are cordially invited to attend part or all of the program at Point Loma Methodist church, Ocean Beach.

The business session will be at 11 a. m. promptly, a 50 cent luncheon at noon and the afternoon program begins at one with devotional and special music. Piano solos will be given by Mrs. Gene Van Deusen. A forum discussion on "Health Around the World" by Mmes Merle Brady, Frank Felt, Ira Ward and Lowry Bayliss will focus attention on the medical work of the Women s division of the Methodist church in many countries.

Luncheon hostesses will be Mmes H. E. Mishler, John Zahn, and William Williams. "Reservations for the luncheon may be made with Mrs. Loftin Stewart, B-4679, or Mrs. H. E. Mishler, B-7052 but if you forget to make reservations, come anyhow," says the officers. A nursery attendant will be on hand from 11 to 3 for small children.

MRS. ZEDDIES HONORED AT PARTY ON TUESDAY

Mrs. Frank C. Cosseboom of 4938 Niagara Ave. entertained friends at her home Tuesday evening complimenting Mrs. Zorn Zeddies. Twenty-four guests were invited and many attractive gifts were received by the honoree. During the evening games were played and scrap books made, and at the close refreshments of ice cream and cake was served.
